Profile

Estates litigation can be highly emotional and all-consuming for all parties involved. Aaron is a strong advocate for our clients during these challenging times, guiding them through the difficult steps of their complex legal files with an empathetic approach.

Aaron has gone through rigorous training with the Society of Trust and Estate Practitioners (STEP) program to earn his Trust and Estate Practitioner designation. This allows him to put our clients in the best position possible in their estate-related disputes.

Aaron is driven to decipher the complexities of the legal system for his clients, and brings a straightforward approach so they can thoroughly understand the big picture underlying their legal issues. When estate laws change, Aaron dedicates himself to learn these new developments and apply them to his practice. He can be found discussing these changes both in online articles and in articles presented in front of his peers at the Society of Trust and Estate Practitioners' national conferences. Aaron recognizes that everyone encounters an estate issue at some point in their lives. He is motivated to guide our clients through those issues towards successful outcomes.
