"Hailing from Vancouver Island, I was excited for the opportunity to live and work downtown in the big city. Luckily, Clark Wilson helped make that transition incredibly smooth. I have felt welcomed and appreciated since my first day in the office. Within my first few weeks at the firm, I was given challenging tasks that required critical thinking and analysis. From conducting legal research to being involved in major transactions, students are immediately exposed to stimulating and interesting work. That said, I always felt comfortable approaching one of my colleagues to get help or further clarification. At Clark Wilson, mentorship is a core and foundational value. The lawyers and staff at this firm truly want to see you succeed and they provide you with all of the tools to do so."
