"My experience at Clark Wilson thus far has been exciting, eye opening and ever-changing. Within the first month of my summer articles, I had the opportunity to work with an array of practice groups including securities, IP, wills and estates, bankruptcy and insolvency and real estate. Each assignment presented a new learning experience and an opportunity to get to know the lawyers at the firm. The Associates and Partners sincerely want to help students succeed as is evidenced by the time they take to explain assignments and provide feedback after we submit our work. The work itself - whether in business or litigation practices - has been hands-on and interesting. At Clark Wilson, I have been able to assist lawyers on files while also learning about exciting new areas of law. One of my memos was directly sent to a client and used to assist them in making an informed business decision. Other small drafting assignments of mine have been used in large mergers and acquisitions. This summer has really demonstrated to me how much Clark Wilson values its students and continues to support us as we start our legal careers."
