"My summer at Clark Wilson was exactly what I hoped it would be. Since day one, everyone at Clark Wilson made me feel a part of the family. I admit I was intimidated by corporate culture before I started working at Clark Wilson but now I know I never had anything to worry about! Even during a pandemic, Clark Wilson went above and beyond making sure the students had as normal of a summer experience as possible and that we were known, included and involved. So many people reached out to us to even just say hello and invited us to help on all sorts of interesting work. We were provided helpful feedback and everyone took so much time to teach and help us. If you want to try something, there will be a chance for you to do it here. If you want to build invaluable relationships and be mentored by amazing people, you will find that here. I'm looking forward to coming back!"
