Profile

"The most meaningful experience at the firm for me (thus far) would be being completely immersed in every facet of a particularly complex litigation file. I was able to interact directly with the clients, draft pleadings and participate in a strategy meeting with two senior partners where my input was not only solicited, but relied on. Most memorable, though, was the moment the clients tearfully presented us with a bouquet of flowers after winning an especially hard-fought court application over their mother's health care; that will stick with me throughout my career, I think."
