Profile

From the very beginning of my summer at Clark Wilson, I was provided with opportunities to engage directly with challenging and important work in the areas that interested me. At every step of the way, however, I was guided and supported by the entire Clark Wilson team. I particularly appreciated the opportunities I had to work directly alongside lawyers researching complex legal issues, and then seeing my research being put into practice at settlement negotiations and chambers applications that I was invited to attend. I look forward to returning to Clark Wilson for my full articles next year, and would encourage anyone interested to reach out and learn more about the firm.
