Profile

My summer with Clark Wilson has been an enriching experience full of interesting work and even more interesting people. Whether it was research, blog post drafting, reviewing textbook chapters, or drafting legal documents, I received full support from the lawyers and support staff who had my back at every turn. The lawyers I worked with always took the time to explain their practice and the particular file, giving me enriching insights into the practice of law. The open door policy was alive and well at this firm, I enjoyed being able to walk into offices for advice or guidance and was always met with a smile. I felt a part of a larger team this summer, and I am excited to begin my articles with my cohort and the rest of the firm!
