Profile

I have had a fantastic summer beginning my legal career at Clark Wilson, where I gained valuable experience across many of the firm's practice groups. I have particularly enjoyed contributing to blog posts and pro bono matters for our Estates & Trusts group, conducting in-depth research on unique legal issues, and leading a summer-long project in tax law. The mentorship and support I received from partners, associates, and articling students at the firm has been truly meaningful. I always felt encouraged to ask questions, and my colleagues consistently made an effort to involve summer students in files that align with their interests. I am thrilled to return to Clark Wilson next year to begin my articles and reconnect with the incredible people that I have had the opportunity to work with.
