Profile

Ty maintains a dual practice in family law and employment & labour law, supporting clients as they navigate some of life's most high-stakes challenges. Whether it's guiding parents through the financial complexities of separation and property division, or supporting employers as they navigate the challenges of employee allegations, Ty recognizes that these issues reach beyond the courtroom, influencing clients' financial security, family relationships, and peace of mind.

Ty helps clients make informed decisions by breaking down complex issues into clear, practical steps. He combines a receptive, client-focused approach with sharp analytical skills, ensuring that clients feel heard while receiving precise, actionable advice. Clients value his ability to listen carefully, think critically, and guide them steadily through conflict and uncertainty.

Ty chose to focus his practice on issues that directly shape people's families and workplaces because of the immediate and lasting impact they have on individuals. With a background in both science and law, he brings a disciplined, evidence-based mindset to his work, while his experience in legal clinics and EMTAGSTARTpro-bonoEMTAGEND work has honed his ability to connect with people from diverse backgrounds. Ty is committed to using his dedication and the depth of the firm's experience to help clients feel supported and empowered as they resolve their legal issues.
