

Alex Farkas

Associate (2018)

604.891.7727

afarkas@cwilson.com

Profile

"Articling at Clark Wilson is much more than due diligence and drafting memos; you are a valued member of the firm, given meaningful work and the ability to shape your articling experience. This meant seeking out work from both partners and associates, building important professional relationships and obtaining valuable practical experience. The level of trust shown by the firm's lawyer pushed me to produce my best work while the firm's articling rotation allowed me to explore practice areas I did not know I would find interesting. Outside of traditional articling student work, I was able to represent the firm at a charity golf tournament and asked to prepare a presentation for a major client, meeting and shaking hands with clients within weeks of being at the firm. The firm is innovative, entrepreneurial and hardworking."