

Indigenous Business & Economic Development

Profile

We support First Nations, their economic development corporations, and businesses working with First Nations communities and their members to advance projects that honour Indigenous rights, create sustainable prosperity, and reflect cultural values. Our team brings together decades of experience advising on business and real estate law, governance, joint ventures, and regulatory matters that intersect with Indigenous interests and priorities. Whether structuring new ventures or navigating complex negotiations, we deliver practical legal solutions grounded in cultural awareness and respect, based on our shared learning and experience.

Our lawyers act for First Nations governments, councils, and business entities and leaders across industries including land acquisition, development and related transactions, aquaculture, forestry, tourism, and energy. We understand the need to balance economic growth with stewardship and Nation-building. From impact and benefit agreements to land transfer agreements, joint ventures and consent-based frameworks, we help clients drive projects forward while building trust and long-term relationships. We also advise proponents and non-Indigenous businesses seeking to engage meaningfully and respectfully with Indigenous communities.

Our team offers a full spectrum of legal services to support Indigenous businesses and their partners at every stage of development and growth. This includes-but is not limited to-commercial real estate, private company transactions, forestry, energy and natural resources, business succession, employment and labour, general business law, tax, litigation, as well as mediation and arbitration. Whether advising on day-to-day operations, structuring complex transactions, or resolving disputes, we apply a practical, business-minded approach grounded in an understanding of Indigenous governance and values. Our cross-disciplinary team works collaboratively to deliver tailored legal solutions that align with our clients' strategic goals and long-term vision.

Above all, we work in partnership with our clients. We take the time to understand their goals and community context, offering guidance that is legally sound, strategically aligned, and responsive to evolving needs. By bridging legal expertise with cultural understanding, we help our clients succeed on their own terms-today and for generations to come.
